SUMMARY OF FEEDBACK ON CURRICULUM AND SYLLABI FOR 2023-2024

The feedback collected from students, alumni, employers, ward in-charges, and faculty indicates a high level of satisfaction with the curriculum and academic processes of the College of Nursing. Respondents appreciated the relevance and comprehensiveness of the nursing curriculum, which effectively integrates theoretical knowledge with practical and clinical learning experiences.

Students reported that course outlines were provided at the beginning of the semester, syllabus coverage was satisfactory, classes were conducted regularly, and faculty members were supportive in facilitating learning. The curriculum was perceived to be relevant to professional nursing practice and helpful in developing knowledge, clinical competence, communication skills, critical thinking, and professional values.

Alumni and employers expressed satisfaction with the professional preparedness, clinical competence, ethical practice, and communication skills of graduates. Faculty members acknowledged that the curriculum supports the achievement of programme outcomes and prepares students to meet contemporary healthcare needs.

Suggestions received through the feedback process included increasing interactive teaching-learning methods, strengthening clinical exposure in specialized areas, enhancing skill-based training, providing additional academic support in challenging subjects, and incorporating emerging trends and technologies in healthcare education.

Overall, the feedback reflects a positive perception of the curriculum and syllabi, with stakeholders recognizing the institution's commitment to quality nursing education and continuous improvement.
